A unique, practical favour your friends and family will sincerely thank you for. And with weddings in mind, Faust's wrap up Recovery Packs or single Potions, using luxury, handmade paper and ribbon.

Faust's Asleep Potion, £12.75 for five mono-shot doses

After a day of too many toasts think of this berry flavoured bedtime tonic as damage limitation.

Although it can't quell the symptoms of a hangover completely, the souped-up formula helps you slip into a peaceful, restorative slumber, giving you a fighting chance come morning.

- Electrolytes rehydrate and see off sore heads
- 5HTP boosts serotonin levels to regulate digestion and ease anxiety
- N-Acetyl Cysteine, an amino acid and powerful antioxidant, tackles lingering toxins
- Honey stimulates the elimination of alcohol from the bloodstream

Faust's Awake Potion, £12.75 for five mono-shot doses

Guests can chase down the wedding breakfast with this energising, orange-flavoured tonic. Before the night's festivities unfurl, encourage family and friends to preload with a Potion, and take full ad-vantage of its ultra-nourishing, immunity-boosting benefits. A strategic late-afternoon dose might just mean you don't have to pay for your partying the morning after. Not quite a cure, but it certainly could coax your guests out for a post-wedding brunch.

- N-Acetyl Cysteine, an antioxidant powerhouse, protects cells from the damaging effect of alcohol
- Electrolytes replenish minerals leached by toxins to shake off sluggishness
- Green tea is rich in catechins which boost liver function
- Guarana settles tummys, has painkiller properties and its a source of caffeine
- Ginseng is known to increase energy and jog your memory
- B vitamins help convert food to energy
- Vitamin C has a well-earned reputation for kicking colds to the curb, but it also plays a part in making complexion-boosting collagen
